Snow all gone.
No meeting of the town council last night.
The public schools open at 9:30 in the morning now.
Rev. C. Cunningham left for the east on Tuesday's train.
The Big Hotel is improved by having a new front put on.
J. A. Morgan has opened a shaving parlor in South Edmonton.
Trains on time, 2 cars merchandise, 1 car groceries and 1 car effects.
T. Bellamy has removed to his new dwelling on Second street, H.B. property.
W. S. Robertson was slightly injured on Wednesday by being thrown from his buckboard.
The office and billiard room of the Alberta hotel is being refitted and papered by Mr. Marzagli.
Twenty-nine homestead entries were granted in the Edmonton land office for the month of October.
The snow is all gone and the weather on Tuesday and Wednesday was as fine as could be desired.
H. B. Round has entered into partnership with Isaac Cowie in the real estate business in his office next to Imperial bank block.
A large party from town went out on Saturday afternoon last to enjoy a skate on the Horse lakes, St. Albert road. The skating is good.
The Edmonton band proposes giving a concert about the end of the present month. If they can equal the merit of their last winter's concert they will do well.
Meeting to-morrow, Friday, evening in the Masonic hall at 8 o'clock to organize a lodge of Royal Templars of Temperance. All friends of temperance are invited.
The work of digging out the remains of the collapsed fire tank, in front of the Imperial bank is still in progress. It is very slow as the mud is very sticky.
D. W. Macdonald, druggist, is getting stone on the ground for a brick store to be erected next season, on Jasper avenue, next to W. G. Ibbotson's fruit and grocery store.
R. B. Wilson, of Calgary, who came in on Monday's train for the purpose of buying a car load of potatoes returns on to-morrow's train without the potatoes. He offered as high as 35 cents per bushel but no one seemed to want to sell.
C. O. Swanson, Swedish immigration agent, was recently presented with an appreciative address by the citizens of West-askin, in which it was mentioned that four townships in that vicinity had been settled through his efforts.
Mr. J. M. Mercier, who has been employed with Larue & Picard as book-keeper, has retired from their employment to take charge of the Long lake farm, St. Albert road, recently purchased by his father J. Mercier, ex-M. P. for Quebec.
Rev. R. A. Munro will arrive from Maple creek on to-night's train to take charge of the Presbyterian church work in South Edmonton. J. S. Dobbin, who has conducted the work at South Edmonton for some weeks, goes to Maple creek.
T. Ryan, of the MacLeod Gazette, arrived Wednesday from Cold lake north-west of Ft. Pitt. Mr. Ryan travelled across country from MacLeod to Battleford, thence to Cold lake and thence to Edmonton. He leaves for MacLeod by to-morrow's train.
The Edmonton ferry began running on Tuesday once more. The water is so low that the ferry cannot reach shore, but long aprons have been added so that by driving a short distance into the water on each side a team can get on to the scow. Only small loads can be taken.
When the grass is green and the streets dry and smooth the taxpayer is inclined to look upon the miles of sidewalks with which Edmonton is blessed as an expensive luxury if not a useless extravagance. But during the past month there has been nary kick. The sidewalks are all right.
Rev. A. Stenden, the new incumbent of All Saints church, Edmonton, will arrive from Birle on to-night's train, and will hold morning and evening service in All Saints' church on Sunday. It is probable that he will also hold service in Holy Trinity church, South Edmonton, in the afternoon.
The mud of Winnipeg and Regina has acquired a national reputation. That of Edmonton is becoming nearly as celebrated. It is fully as numerous in its season and only one degree less slippery and sticky than the mud of those two favored towns. But while we don't like the mud let us not forget that it takes mud to grow wheat.
Mr. Butchart of Stony Plain proposes to set out 2,000 strawberry plants next spring, and to devote a considerable amount of attention to the growing of other fruit as well, including apples. Mr. Butchart came last spring from Port Moody, British Columbia, where he was engaged largely in growing strawberries for market in conjunction with his brother who is still in the business there.
The Edmonton Orchestral society was organized at a meeting held in Glover & Andrews music store on Thursday, November 2nd, with sixteen members. President J. B. Spurr; vice president Dr. McInnis; conductor Geo. Purches; secretary-treasurer and librarian F. H. Andrews. The society at present comprises 3 first violinists, 3 2nd violinists, 3 flutes, 1 clarinet, 1 first and 1 second cornet, 1 slide trombone, 1 euphonium, 1 drum and 1 piano. The object of the society is mutual improvement in music. Practice every Monday evening. It is proposed to give a concert some time next month. The entrance fee is $1.00 and the dues $1.00 per quarter. Parties desiring to join may communicate with the secretary-treasurer. Considering the comparatively small population of Edmonton this society includes a very high degree of musical talent, and their concert will be looked forward to with pleasure.

Rifle matches to-morrow commencing at 9 a.m. sharp.
The police are erecting a wagon shed at their barracks on Fraser avenue.
The McCormick binder was sold in Edmonton during the past season by W. Maloney, implement dealer for $190 cash.

J. Waisch, fur buyer for Joseph Ullmann & Co. of St. Paul, arrived on Monday's train, and will make Edmonton his headquarters for the winter. He has leased the small building next to the Jasper house as an office and store room, and is prepared to buy all the fur that is offered for sale in Northern Alberta. Last year he bought $33,000 worth of fur.
On Tuesday, November 7th before Insp. Snyder and Mr. McCauley, J. P.'s, Neil Polson was brought up, charged with vagrancy and sentenced to six months imprisonment. This is the man who after the fire alarms of 1892 was sent down for a year for stealing lumber. On Sunday evening last he was found secreted in Mr. Hough's stable. He ran, but was captured by Mr. Hough and given in charge of the police.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 9TH, 1893.

MIXED FARMING.

In their recent tour through the Northwest the ministers of agriculture and finance preached the doctrine of mixed farming to every gathering of farmers that they had the good—or ill—fortune to address. Of course the farmers went to see the ministers for the purpose of talking tariff and railway rates, and for the ministers to attempt to avoid discussion on these points by giving the farmers instructions as to the management of their own business was hardly to the point. At the same time it must be admitted that with wheat at present prices, wheat farming alone does not pay even if the crop is good. The wheat farmer has to buy so much of everything he requires—even his flour has to be purchased—that he pays the heaviest tribute to the combines, while the bulky nature of his chief product places him most completely at the mercy of the railway. His candle is being burned at both ends. This, too, leaving out of consideration short crops or complete crop failures. At the same time it is utter nonsense to advocate mixed farming where the country is not suited for it. The very features which make certain parts of the country attractive to the wheat grower render it unsuitable for stock raising; or rather there are many features which are an absolute necessity to mixed farming that are not so necessary in wheat growing. The wheat farmer looks for open prairie land which will cost him the smallest possible amount to bring under cultivation. The water supply matters little, for he will only keep a couple of teams of horses and he can haul water for them. For the same reason the questions of natural shelter, pasture or hay land are not considered. He purposely avoids the land that has these features; for the brush that gives shelter to stock would greatly increase the cost of breaking, the creek or pond that would give water would break the symmetry of his field and the hay swamp would be unsuitable for the growth of wheat. The wood, the water, and the hay are all necessary to the profitable raising of stock, and the district which has most of these, if it has good soil and climate as well, is the place for mixed farming. It is in these particulars that the Edmonton district stands pre-eminent, and is therefore the part of the country that Messrs. Foster and Angers were most particularly advertising. This most profitable kind of farming is mixed farming and the Edmonton district is the part of North America best suited for mixed farming.

TARIFF REFORM.

The question of tariff reform is being argued very freely just now from many points of view. Probably no man, by reason of his acknowledged abilities or the position which he formerly held in the conservative or protective party, is better qualified to speak on that subject than Dalton McCarthy. It is quite possible to impute to Mr. McCarthy discreditable motives in the course which he is taking, but it seems impossible to defeat the logic which he offers on the subject in the following extract from his speech recently delivered in St. Mary's, Ontario:
"I differed also, ladies and gentlemen, from my friends in another matter. I am one of those who supported the National policy, and I am to that extent responsible as a humble member of the party for whatever evils it entailed, and I am entitled also to such thanks and to such commendation as those who believe in the national policy and its results think fit to bestow. But, ladies and gentlemen, I realized last year that the time had come when that policy should be moderated. I realized that the protective policy had been carried to too great an extent, and that the period had arrived in our history when we should undo some of the mischief that had grown out of that system, and as fast as possible return to a revenue tariff policy. Well, that of course is not very sound tory doctrine. I am quite willing to admit that, because I understand that if there is anything at all that a tory prides himself on, it is on holding on to everything that he has got—and I at once realize that I am somewhat of a backslider in that regard. I know, having lived through the whole course of the national policy, having been at its birth and at its prime, and now about to witness its death-bed—that those who advocated the national policy, from the great leader himself, Sir John Macdonald, down to the humblest follower, always did so as a merely temporary expedient. We took the manufacturer and the farmer under our wing, and said we will shut out the American crops from our market so that you can charge the consumers more, and you will get rich, and everybody will get rich, and that is what I humbly believed in. The question is whether everybody has got rich. Undoubtedly some people have. The manufacturers have. And how have they done it? It is not by selling their goods to the foreigner, or sending them across the border, but selling them to you, ladies and gentlemen, all along. And if they have got rich you must have got poor. You cannot fill up this pail out of that one without that one getting less. They said they would not increase the price of goods, that all they wanted was to keep the foreigner out of the market. They said: "We will manufacture all the Canadian people want and charge them no more than if the British and American manufacturers were competing with us." We put on a 35 per cent tariff, or a little more. The consequence is that the merchant says, for instance, "These goods cost me $10. I can make a fair living if I sell them at $12 but why should I sell them for $12 when they cannot be had from the British merchant for less than $13.50, on account of carriage and duty." So the manufacturer has been piling it on. At last they formed combines and trusts, and said: "What fools we have been, cutting each other's throats right along. We will regulate the output of this mill and that factory, and keep the prices just right, and the stupid Canadian farmer will hardly find it out." I venture to say that there is not a manufacturing industry in this country in which there is not an understanding between those engaged in the business by which they regulate the output and prices, so that there is no competition. What is the result? It is that you are paying enormous taxes on what you bring into the country, and enormous prices for home manufactures, and the 35 per cent goes into the pocket of the manufacturer, not into the treasury.

Says the Brandon Mail, "But Mr. McBride says further, Canada consumes at least but a very small percentage of their products. Then as the Irishman says 'Why not let the tail go with the hide?' If they sell six-sevenths of their products in countries where they have no protection, and we take it make money, why not sell the seven-seventh in Canada without protection? Why single out the Canadian people to be especially blistered? It should be an easy matter for Mr. McBride to throw light on all these matters, and the people would like to see him do it."

If the published accounts are to be believed Lobenguela, King of Mashona land, South Africa, and his army have taken to the woods, after a short engagement with the forces of the chartered company. His chief town is now the headquarters of the troops. Imperial troops followed those of the chartered company but did not take part in the fighting. The losses of the company's men were light.

A German named Vincent Whitman was killed in Regina recently by a blow from a shovel in the hands of a teamster named John McDonald. The fatal blow was delivered during an altercation over the right of McDonald to take a load of lime of which Whitman was in charge. McDonald is under arrest.

Gladstone's programme is now said to be to pass a franchise bill which will give a vote to every household. If that is thrown out by the Lords he will dissolve the house and appeal to the country on that issue, it is said with better prospects of success than he would have on straight home rule.

Battleford Herald: J. W. Cesser, of Washington Territory, arrived from the west on Wednesday, with sixty head of horses. He drove through the Crow's Nest Pass, thence to Edmonton and around by Whitefish lake, Saddle Lake and down the Saskatchewan to this place.

Two men named Clark and Braden who left Vancouver on July 21st last to explore the Squamish and Chilcooten valleys have not been heard from since and are supposed to have perished.

Moosomin Spectator: "Wheat is now pouring in in large quantities, notwithstanding the low price, which has been fluctuating between 42 and 46 cents."

Jas. Finn was killed at Soap Stone Cut, near Cochrane west of Calgary on the C. P. R. line on October 28th by a dump car passing over his body.

A row between French Canadians and Belgians occurred recently in St. Boniface, in which several on both sides were seriously injured.

A snow fall occurred in Winnipeg on November 1st, which made it difficult to keep the street car lines open.

The Grafton, North Dakota, Record says No. 1 hard wheat was 47c there on October 31st.

The deaths of Mrs. F. McLellan and Mrs. Isaac Gaetz occurred at Red Deer recently.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.

At a meeting of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Fort Saskatchewan it was moved by Amable Lamoureux seconded by Joseph O. Derome and resolved that the members of the St. Jean Baptiste Society have learned with the greatest sorrow of the death of Mrs. Moret, the beloved wife of our friend and Vice-President Mr. Leon Moret, and beg to tender him the condolence of the Society in his affliction; and that a copy of this resolution be published in the Edmonton Bulletin, La Presse and Le Monde, with a request to the Swiss papers to reproduce the same.

(Sgl.) THEOP. LAMOUREUX,
Sec'y of S.J.B.S.

RAILWAY RATES.

The Winnipeg Tribune publishes a statement of government aid granted the C.P.R. and comments upon it as follows:
Subsidy granted by act of Feb.

13,181	$25,000,000
Railway constructed by Government, cost and interest	36,770,785
Capital stock guaranteed	65,000,000
Loan to company authorized by act of 1884, in part	29,880,912
Balance of above loan	15,000,000
Bonds, interest guaranteed for 50 years, 3 1/2 per cent.	15,000,000
Land grant bonds	25,000,000
Subsidy of $186,000 a year for 20 years	3,720,000
	$215,361,697

Total cost according to company's balance sheet, Dec., 1888. $131,350,019

Par value of various aids exceeds cost by $84,011,688

We think that after carefully perusing the figures of the table, most people will agree with The Tribune that there are very special reasons why the C.P.R. should be prepared to reduce its rates and treat the settler in the most liberal manner, especially when the price of wheat is so very low and when times in the province are so far from being good. It is a fair proposition that the company which has such an immense interest in the success of this country should, when times are bad, share our lot with us. If the settler was receiving a big price for his produce, and could afford to pay the freight rate charged and prosper, it would be different, and there would be no urgent demand for a lower rate, but at the present time, when it takes one bushel of wheat to ship two out of the province, the result bears heavily upon the settler. We commend the figures quoted to the perusal of our readers.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EDMONTON DISTRICT:

Edmonton is certain to become a very great city—the centre of an enormous population—from which will run a united rail way to the Pacific coast (creating another great city there) and a branch of it will run north—from the point where it crosses the river—up to the Peace, Athabasca and Mackenzie river districts—opening up another new world with “an area of over two million square miles, with vast areas of agricultural, grazing, timber and mineral lands, with the greatest petroleum beds in the world.” This railway will cross the Saskatchewan at some point between Fort Saskatchewan and Edmonton, where the banks are level on both sides of the river.

The city will cover 15 square miles—including North and South Edmonton, Clover Bar, Fort Saskatchewan, Nemo and St. Albert. The Saskatchewan will flow through it and the Sturgeon river will be its northern boundary. Calgary, Regina, Brandon, Winnipeg, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan and Battleford will be great cities; but all of them together will not equal in size, nor importance the vast, grand city of Edmonton.

This mighty city will be watered by the Saskatchewan—brought in the largest size of iron mains—from a point far up the river, where the water will be for ever of the purest quality and at an elevation that will give pressure to drive the water over the tops of the highest buildings in Edmonton. It will be lighted by electricity, and electric cars will run through the city in every direction.

The railway coming up through the Saskatchewan Valley will open up the richest country on this continent for agricultural purposes and will give prosperous, happy homes to millions of people—this railway will be in time the real Canada Atlantic and Pacific railway—with magnificent terminal facilities on both these oceans to handle the productions of the Dominion, going and coming, with cheapness and dispatch.

This splendid future can all be realized in its entirety within the next forty years, and three years from next spring the line from Saskatoon can be at Edmonton at the point it will cross the river united to the Edmonton and Calgary railway and can reach the Pacific coast—through the Yellowhead pass—three years afterwards. The line north will be completed within the next 25 years and at the end of 40 years, as I have said, the mighty city I have pictured forth will be a reality.

The bed of the Saskatchewan—from Edmonton to Lake Winnipeg will be cleared out and the channel in some places deepened and the banks of the river lighted by electricity at necessary points to enable the traffic to go on at night as well as day, and barges laden with the productions of the soil, forest and mine and manufactured goods, will be towed by powerful steam tugs down to Winnipeg and far beyond when the river is open.

On the sides of the river within the city boundary will stand grand mills of every description: Flour, timber, cotton, woolen, iron foundries, machine shops, cooperages—for making casks, tubs and other packages for butter and cheese, &c. Rope works for making binding twine for the farmers and other cordage. Coal and other sheds, and the workers dwelling houses, &c., &c., and at least two sections of land will be required for railway terminal facilities—on which will be built the grain elevators to hold the wheat &c.—and the cattle sheds, &c., &c.

Grain elevators will also be built all along the lines of the several railways leading to Edmonton—at suitable points for the accumulation of the grain—who will bring the grain they intend to export direct from the fields, when threshed out, to the elevators, to save expense—means by which towns and villages will be built—with all the activity of trade.

You brave, industrious people of the Edmonton district, who have worked so hard in the past for a bare living—cut off as you have been so long from the world, in consequence of the C. P. R. change of route—must work still harder in the future, but with your pockets full of money however—after you get the government to compel the railway men (who have proved themselves real highwaymen)—who hold such vast quantities of your lands as subsidies—to build the line from Saskatoon by way of Battleford to Edmonton without further delay; and the farmers must improve their mode of cultivating the soil and tending their cattle—the breed must be greatly improved and the calves must not be allowed to suck their mothers—which ruins the cows.

When this is done I undertake to form a joint stock company in London—with a capital of a million pounds sterling—to build creameries—to make butter of a high and uniform quality—and these factories, at every point along the route of both railways which are to unite at Edmonton and where a suitable supply of water can be got and where the neighboring farmers will engage to supply the creameries with milk of suitable quality all the year round, &c., the produce of from 450 to 600 cows—for which they will be paid on delivery if required—the business to be done on a strictly cash basis so far as the farmers are concerned—who have quite enough of risk in their own legitimate business.

The company will also build a creamery near the terminus at Edmonton—such as the Armour's of Chicago—to put up meats—beef, pork &c.—which would be an enormous advantage to the farmers of Northern Alberta. “The American Grocer” in a late number, said—speaking of this business: “The sales of Armour & Co., Chicago for the fiscal year ending April 30th, 1893, were $210,900,000, this is over $300,000 for every working day of the year. The firm killed 1,750,000 hogs, 1,080,000 cattle, 625,000 sheep. It employs 11,000 persons and pays $5,000,000 wages. It has an equipment of over 4,000 cars and 700 horses and their yards and premises require over 600 acres of land.”

The refuse of the business. Hides, horns, hoofs, hair, bones, blood, &c., are all worked into goods of high commercial value, and it is said the profit on this department of the business alone yields the Armour company several millions yearly.

Now a few words about the butter trade. England last year imported over 65 million dollars worth of table butter; 24 millions dollars worth from Denmark, 14 million from France and 5 1/2 million from Australia and New Zealand and Canada not much over 1/2 of a million dollars worth.

Why was Australia and New Zealand at the other side of the world and in a hot climate—where the grass is of poor quality and water scarce—able to send more than five times more butter to England than Canada with a cool climate, the richest grasses and any quantity of fine water? For three reasons: (1) because the government gives these countries full information and instructs them how to make and put up butter to suit the English market; (2) appoints inspectors to see that every package exported is of the best quality and branded accordingly and (3) gives an export bonus of a cent and a half per pound to help to pay the freight and charges to England.

The company that I will form in England will get the Dominion government to give like advantages to the farmers and exporters of butter in the Dominion for five years, and within that time Canada will be supplying England with two-thirds of all the butter she imports, or say, forty million dollars worth. A business of quite national importance. The company will have its chief office in London and will be in a position to place its products—butter, cheese, canned meats &c.—in every town and village in Great Britain and Ireland and many other places in Europe.

I ask you to strive with me to hasten the grand future which is surely before the beautiful country of Edmonton—because of its exceptional and excellent position.

Very respectfully,
GEORGE GORDON DUSTAN.

EASTWOOD, DARTMOUTH,
NOVA SCOTIA,
21st October, 1893.

Winnipeg Tribune: These reflections have a bearing on the comparative prosperity of Canadian and American farmers. Taking it all round they have had a much worse dose of protection and unstatesmanlike government than we have. The farmers of Manitoba as a whole are hard up, but the farmers of the American west are even worse off. Bailiffs and mortgage sales are everywhere, and thousands of widowed assistance to help themselves and their families alive through the winter. This is not a time to gloat over as certain Thompson-Foster organs seem to think. It calls for sincere sympathy and deep regret. At the same time, while we are sorry that our neighbors are so badly off we may be thankful that we are not quite so badly off ourselves; for heaven knows times are hard enough as it is.

Lethbridge News: The C. P. R. surveyors engaged in locating the Crow's Nest Pass route, are divided into two sections, both of which are reported to be making the most of the remaining short season. One party is taking the levels and the other is running the line down the Moyea. Unless some change is made in the present programme the road will come down the Moyea and cross on the divide between that stream and the head of Goat river, and come down the Kootenay on the south side of Goat river. The railroad company has surveyed a new townsite on the divide between the Moyea and the Goat rivers.

Messrs. Alexander Macdonald, R. P. Robin, William F. Luxton, Colin H. Campbell, Murray Miller and George D. Wood, all of Winnipeg, are applying at Ottawa for incorporation by letters patent of the “North-west Publishing Company” with a capital of $50,000.

A two year old child of Geo. Bowtishimer of Red Deer died of strychnine poisoning recently. The child had found the drug accidentally, during the absence of the parents, and was dying when they returned.

Nearly all the cattle on the steamer Huronia, one of which was said to be affected by pleuro-pneumonia, came from the ranches and from the Moosemount district. Only a few came from Ontario.

The Arama, a fine new boat has been added to the Canadian Australian line.

ELECTRIC LIGHT MEETING.
The second annual meeting of the Edmonton Electric Light & Power Company, limited was held last evening in W. S. Robertson's building at 8 o'clock. The report of the managing director and the financial report of the auditor were read. The president, J. A. McDougall, addressed the meeting shortly on the affairs of the company.

McDougall—Kirkpatrick—moved the adoption of the report and financial statement.

On the motion the question of the cost of coal was debated at some length and the report carried.

The election of a new board of directors then took place. Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Sacke acted as scrutineers. The following were elected: J. A. McDougall, D. R. Fraser, J. Kelly, K. A. McLeod, A. D. Osborne, A. Taylor, J. Waiter.

N. D. Beck explained the agreement with the town.

Beck—Picard—moved the ratification of the loans effected by the directors from the Imperial bank, and to authorize them to borrow a sum not exceeding $4,000, including the sums already borrowed, and that when it becomes necessary to secure the bank or pay the company's indebtedness to the bank the directors issue debentures to the amount of the $3,000, provided for in the agreement with the town.

Beck—Wilson—moved that the thanks of the shareholders be tendered to the retiring board of directors. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

The managing director's report and financial report will appear in full in next issue.

RAIN-BOW SOCIAL.
A most successful social was given last evening in Robertson Hall by the society of King's Daughters. The seating capacity of the hall was fully occupied. A rain-bow, hung over the front of the stage, was emblematic of the name chosen by the local society or circle and had a very pretty effect. In the open space in the front part of the hall between the seats and the stage was arranged a part circle of refreshment tables, to be presided over at the close of the programme by young ladies attired to give a combination of the colors of the rain-bow. The entertainment was the occasion of introducing new musical talent to the Edmonton public which will be a pleasing and worthy addition to that hitherto available. The following is the programme:

Reading by Miss Osborne, giving a sketch of the organization of the society of King's daughters, their motto, aims and work, which was concluded by an invitation to call upon the society for any aid or assistance having a worthy object and which would be in the power of the members to give. Vocal solo, "Anchored" Dr. Ibbotson, Prof. Andrews accompanist. Recitation, "The first letter," Miss Clara Oliver. Piano solo, "Marche des Troubadours," Prof. Andrews. Vocal solo, "That Melody Divine," Miss Marie Hopkins. Miss A. V. McLeod, accompanist, encore, "The Broken Pitcher," piano duet, "Waves of Ocean Galop," Miss Maggie and Mr. Alex. McCauley. Vocal duet, "Reuben and Rachel," Miss Eva Foster, Master Alfred McLeod, Miss Hopkins accompanist. McLeod, encore, "Spanish Fandango," vocal solo, "A-waiting," E. Raymer, Miss Phillips, accompanist. Stump Speech, Mr. Wilson, encore. Vocal solo, "Who'll buy my pretty flowers," Miss Eva Foster, Miss Hopkins accompanist. Vocal quartette, "Twilight on the Sea," Misses McLeod and Hopkins, Messrs. Raymer and Goodwin, Miss Phillips accompanist. Tableau, "Gipsy Camp," Miss Robertson, Hopkins, Connor, Foster, Kernahan, Matheson, Helen and Annie McLeod, Messrs. Pattullo, Fred and Harry Robertson. On the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served at the tables, provided and the social side of the entertainment occupied the attention of those present.
